4-H is the Youth Development component of the Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service. The Extension Service extends the University of Kentucky and Kentucky State University to citizens throughout the commonwealth. 4-H involves youth through individual self-study projects at home, organized clubs in communities and schools, special interest groups, camp television, after-school child care programs, or as part of the school curriculum.

COOPERATIVE
 EXTENSION SERVICE

Educational programs of Kentucky Cooperative Extension serve all people regardless of race, color, age, sex, religion, disability, or national origin. University of Kentucky, Kentucky State University, U.S. Department of Agriculture, and Kentucky Counties, Cooperating. Disabilities accommodated with prior notification.

Share your Talents

- You have something to give
- You have years of experience
- This is your chance to share your knowledge and talents with the youth of Rowan County...our future leaders.

“When adults take time to help young people through 4-H, they exert an enormous, positive influence on the lives of the youth.”

Retired General Colin Powell

There are many ways you can volunteer for the Rowan County 4-H Youth Development program. You can pick the area or areas that best suit your talents and desired level of involvement.

Special events may require a team coach or recreation leader. Perhaps you own or manage a business that would be a great place for a field trip. Some of these roles require as little as two hours.

We engage volunteers in a variety of ways . . . ongoing involvement to short term involvement with youth and with involvement on behalf of our youth.

Please consider these roles and check the area or areas of interest to you
